Fellowship Bible Church of Little Rock is planning a new concept for their campus with an emphasis on architecture to facilitate a mission to reconnect the church to its community.

Rather than a large central auditorium the campus will feature three smaller venues and a "main street" concept that will allow people to connect with each other and with all of the ministries that the church offers.

AD developed the auditorium designs for the three venues and 3-D modeling. We developed detailed animations and renderings for The Edge venue.
